

Anne Frank Traveling Exhibit

Program Media Kit

Contents:

- About the Program
- How to Sign Up
- Testimony
- Photography
- Promoting Your Event
- Social Media
- About the IHE
- For More Information
- Contacts

About the Anne Frank Traveling Exhibit:

Anne Frank: A History for Today is a unique partnership between the Institute for Holocaust Education (IHE), the University of South Carolina's College of Education Anne Frank Center, and the Anne Frank House in Amsterdam. This bilingual (English and Spanish), easy-to-assemble traveling exhibit brings Anne Frank's story to life while placing it within the broader context of the Holocaust and World War II.

Through powerful photographs from Anne's childhood and excerpts from her diary, the 32-panel exhibit explores the impact of Nazi persecution, prejudice, and war on one family. By connecting history to personal experience, the exhibit encourages students and visitors to reflect on themes of human rights, tolerance, and civic responsibility.

The program begins with a two-day peer-guide training workshop led by IHE's Education Director and support staff using a curriculum provided by The Anne Frank House. Students are trained to serve as exhibit guides, developing leadership skills while learning to facilitate meaningful conversations about history, identity, and social responsibility.

Hosted primarily by middle and high schools for a two-week period, the interactive exhibit encourages students to ask important questions, think critically about Anne Frank's experiences, and consider the relevance of her story today. Schools are encouraged to host a community evening, providing students with an opportunity to share their knowledge and engage with families, friends and the general public.

The exhibit travels to one to two locations each month and can also be hosted by libraries, museums, and theaters. A minimum of 800 square feet of exhibit space is required, with 1,000 square feet or more preferred to maximize visitor engagement and accessibility.

How to Sign Up:

The Anne Frank: A History for Today exhibit travels to approximately two locations each month during the school year, based on availability.

To request the exhibit for your school or organization, email Jane Nesbit, Education Director, at JNesbit@ihene.org.

The exhibit is designed for middle and high school students (grades 6–12), however libraries, museums and theatres can be accommodated.

There is no cost to host the exhibit.

Testimony:

Testimony regarding the Anne Frank Exhibit can be viewed on YouTube by scanning the QR code located here.

Photography:

This kit includes photographs showcasing the setup of the Anne Frank exhibit, as well as images capturing what a typical community night may look like. These photos are available for use in newsletters, school communications, and social media posts to help highlight students' learning experiences, celebrate community engagement, and raise awareness of the program. To access these photos, please visit our online media kit:

<https://ihene.org/anne-frank-media-kit/>

Promoting Your Event:

In this kit, you will find a flyer and additional graphics to share with parents and your school community about the Anne Frank exhibit and community night. Please help us share this information to support this meaningful educational experience.

If you would like to create posters or invites for your community night, please click here:

<https://canva.link/iheannefrankinvite>

To personalize your invitation in Canva, click File in the upper-left corner and select Make a copy from the dropdown menu. Once your copy has been created, you can edit the invitation with your school's information, dates, times, and any other details you'd like to customize.

Social Media:

If you or your school share photos and highlights from your visit on social media, we would greatly appreciate your help in raising awareness about this important and impactful educational program.

When posting on Facebook or Instagram, please tag us: @IHENE

In addition to any hashtags you may already use, we ask that you include:

#AnneFrank #DiaryOfAnneFrank #HolocaustEducation #ihene

To make posting easy, we have provided a few sample social media captions below. Feel free to use them as written or tailor them to reflect your students' unique experiences and takeaways from the day.

Thank you for helping us share the importance of Holocaust education and inspiring future generations to choose humanity, compassion, and courage in the face of injustice.

Option 1:

We are honored for our school to host Anne Frank: A History for Today, a traveling exhibit presented in partnership with @IHENE, @annefrankhouse_official, and @AnneFrankCenterattheUniversityofSouthCarolina. The exhibit brings Anne Frank's story to life while exploring the history of the Holocaust and World War II.

Through photographs, diary excerpts, and interactive learning experiences, students will examine the impact of prejudice, persecution, and war while reflecting on the importance of human rights, tolerance, and civic responsibility.

A unique aspect of this program is the opportunity for our students to serve as peer guides. Following specialized training, they will lead visitors through the exhibit, developing leadership skills and facilitating meaningful conversations about history and its relevance today.

Anne Frank's story continues to inspire people around the world to stand against discrimination and to build more inclusive communities. We are proud to provide this educational experience for our students and community.

#AnneFrank #DiaryOfAnneFrank #HolocaustEducation #ihene

Option 2- Community Night:

Our school is proud to host Anne Frank: A History for Today, a traveling exhibit presented in partnership with @IHENE, @annefrankhouse_official, and @AnneFrankCenterattheUniversityofSouthCarolina. The exhibit brings Anne Frank's story to life while exploring the history of the Holocaust and World War II.

Join us for our Community Night and learn from our student docents, who have been specially trained to guide visitors through the exhibit and facilitate meaningful conversations about history, human rights, and the importance of standing up against prejudice. We hope you'll join us on [DATE] for this powerful educational experience.

#AnneFrank #DiaryOfAnneFrank #HolocaustEducation #ihene

About the Institute for Holocaust Education (IHE):

The Institute for Holocaust Education (IHE) is a nonprofit organization dedicated to teaching the history and lessons of the Holocaust through educational resources, professional development, survivor testimony, and arts-based programming. Serving students, educators, and the broader community, IHE fosters critical thinking about prejudice, racism, human rights, moral responsibility, and civic engagement while supporting Holocaust survivors and their families in our region. Through its programs, IHE empowers learners of all ages to understand the causes and consequences of the Holocaust and apply its lessons to contemporary challenges.

For more information, visit IHE's website: <https://ihene.org/>.

For More Information on Anne Frank and the Traveling Exhibit:

Institute for Holocaust Education

The Anne Frank Center at the University of South Carolina

The Anne Frank House

Contacts:

Still have questions?

Jane Nesbit, Education Director

Institute for Holocaust Education

333 South 132nd Street

Omaha, NE 68154

402.334.6453

JNesbit@ihene.org